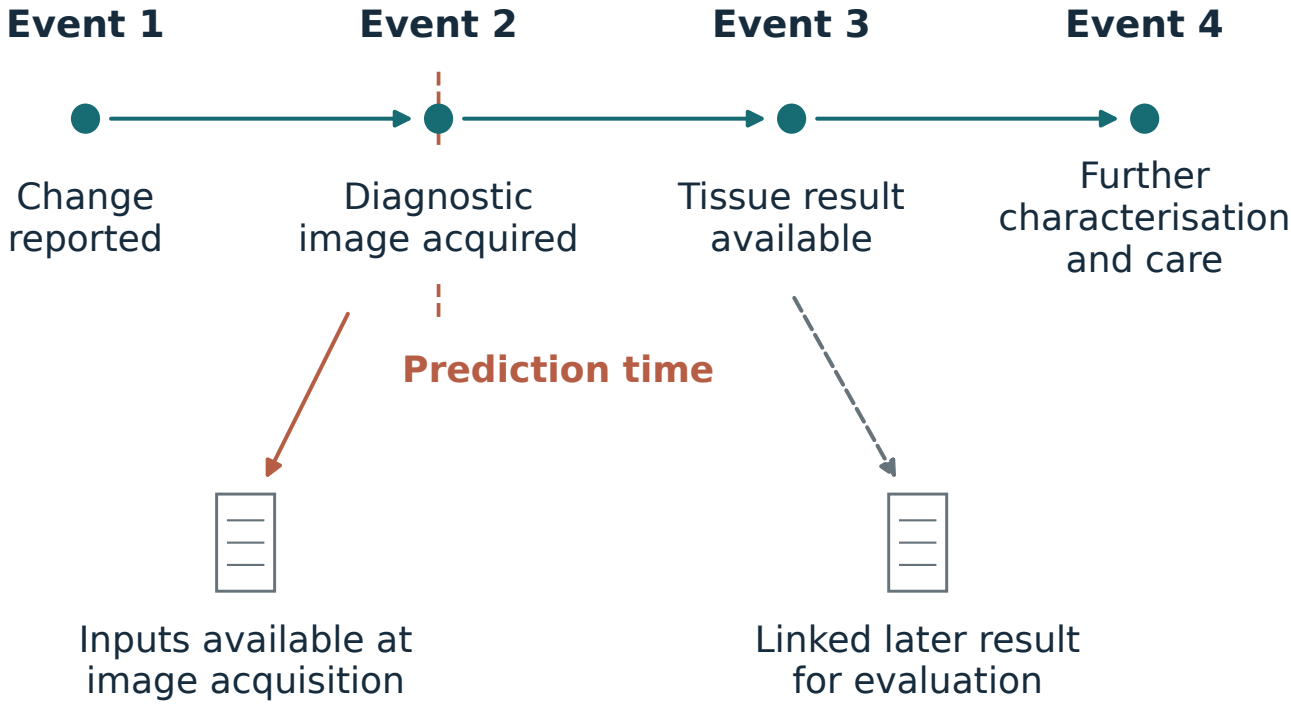
A record answers a question at a particular time

Fictional timeline for a research task



Later results are not earlier inputs

Future risk asks a different question with a defined time period